

From: Kate Bouve
To: Norman Spurling
Subject: Re: Rodenticide incident reports
Date: 01/09/2013 09:01 AM

Norman -

So sorry to hear you are under the weather. There's some nasty flu going around so stay home. Be good to yourself and get rest, chicken soup, etc.

I'll check with Robert Miller on the incidents.

Hope you feel better soon.

Cheers

Kate

▼ Norman Spurling---01/09/2013 08:49:03 AM---Kate, I just saw your message this morning. I'm at home and, sorry to say, with a bug that I picked

From: Norman Spurling/DC/USEPA/US
To: Kate Bouve/DC/USEPA/US@EPA
Date: 01/09/2013 08:49 AM
Subject: Re: Rodenticide incident reports

Kate,
I just saw your message this morning. I'm at home and, sorry to say, with a bug that I picked up last week. It got a lot worse on the weekend, and I've been taking a lot of medicine since Monday. I'm coughing badly and I doubt anyone who saw me would want me to be at work today. I'm hoping I can come back in tomorrow. I don't know of anyone who has been monitoring rodenticide incidents to compare rates before and after the RMD. Shanna Recore (HED) might know for humans. Robert Miller would know for EFED.

Norman Spurling
6(a)(2) Coordination and Analysis Team Leader
OPP/ITRMD/ISB
703-305-5835

-----Kate Bouve/DC/USEPA/US wrote: -----

To: Norman Spurling/DC/USEPA/US@EPA
From: Kate Bouve/DC/USEPA/US
Date: 01/08/2013 04:41PM
Subject: Rodenticide incident reports

Norman -

I've been reading the draft cancellation order.

I imagine you know that there was a Risk Mitigation Decision issued in May 2008. The draft order says that "By June 4, 2011, most rodenticide registrants had voluntarily amended their registrations or replaced them with new registrations meeting the risk mitigation goals of the RMD, thereby significantly reducing rodenticide risks"

Have you seen fewer incident reports associated with the rodenticides?
Has anything gotten better since/because the RMD was issued?

Has anyone been asked to monitor rodenticide incidents or report on them?

This may have been handled. I just haven't come across anything that answers these questions.

Do you know that Jim Jones wants the order issued by the end of the month!!??

Many thanks.

Kate